

Q. Was her delivery succeeded by a period of physical prostration more or less?

A. I don't know as to that.

Q. While she was in the sick room at the first of it was she prostrated physically a good deal. A. Yes, sir.

Q. Did that seem to weaken the violence of her insanity? A. It did at that time.

Q. As she grew better the insanity returned. A. Yes, sir.

Q. So that the violent insanity had returned and increased before she left the sick room. A. I think so.

Q. The ward she was put back into was a quiet ward, more so than she was.

A. Those in the ward as a general thing were more quiet than she was when put back.

Q. So that her classification was favorable to her. A. Yes, sir.

Q. Have you been in the habit of putting bandages round women in cases of excessive flowing? A. No.

Q. Did you find excessive flowing in this case when you went in.

A. Yes, sir.
