lyng hill, like Pokanocket, R. I. of Po-cantico^R, near Parrytown, Hudson R., & there is a range of separate summits west of Patterson N.J. with the four. The procedure is to find out where your man lived, & if the place supports a place meaning. There is a "Pawcamp water" somewhere, I think in verse, but my books has gone Boston way. King Philip wrote Pawkamauket, or mauket, in a deed concerning his own best place at Pokanocket. But, as a warning, don't take n too hard where you are used to finding n, for down here, between whites & Indians, you get n smoothed into m quite occasionally: I want say it isn't tolerable Indian.

You see, I want saving personals & translate them, but to clear indeterminate forms in place names. Yet I am thankful for the translated ones you write - there is some chance of parallels in my index. Here & there in my personals Nelson has been able to translate, or try to. I think? will send you his lot later. Names of greater chiefs anywhere are rather apt
