Dear Mrs Eckelöf,

Thanks for the dict.

I began to think something had happened to you, not hearing for so long.

I haven't done much, rather thought I was done with the business but it is waking up a little, maybe.

Your machegony seems good. I see S-L has knee, elbow & bad clay. Curiously the form for knee holds practically without change in the one dialects, & there are about the farthest away of any I know from our N. England ones.

Am interested in your locatiⁿ of Marosken, & enclose a copy of my (quite unstudied) Marosken slip. My first guess is for a black-mud tide place. It's rather odd, finding that mov in the Algonquian, which is
