

Sevattis was a great joker. "Look out for that log Sevattis."

"Ah! You don't want it that log. He's not that log.

He don't burn." There's a stone Sevattis." "Oh! that stone, he's too big that stone. But boy we don't look him that stone

Though a Pimooker ^{a daughter of his old blood} Sevattis married ^{young} into ^{the Am. Indians}

Quoddy tribe and lived at Pleasant Point for sixteen years. He spoke both languages & knew all that both tribes well in doing, He was a good boatman in quick water and a good sailor at sea.

He could shoot seal & porpoise which few Pimookers excelled in. He was governor of the Pimookers during the services & at the time of the Inian

1866? (19/1866)
outbreak was sent to Coughmougha to the council and to carry ^{mess age} tribute. He was one of the best men one sent ~~with~~ tribute. [Possibly he did not carry tribute this time but he was at the council when delegates were summoned. Old Governor was to see & he voluntarily to go -
