

living site there.. As I remember, the name of Royalls' Rivr has the form:

Sokoki - Souriquois I have never approached + must, The word sookpichellu occurs, is probably Delaware, ~~rather the case~~, rather a cataract idea, I should say,

Your feeling about Connecticut names reminds that Nelson found he could talk with a Delaware later; and the Mohegan shades into the Hudson Rivr sort as you go west + The H.R. into the Delaware, the same with western Long Island. After doing with S.E. New England names I get the home feel; you speak of from Virginia names.

I'm been saving personal names later, have 3700 indexed. It was because a good many Indians were known by the names of their places. They all had private names I assume, also, but it would not be the Indian way to be forward about them. Once indexed these names turn out much more interesting + profitable than I expected. Rather the best forms of the language are in them + help clear up place-names. It might be worth while
