

in the management of hospitals, you did not see any special improvement you could suggest. Ans. There were continual improvements, which Mrs Louimly and I together suggested. During the two years, we called attention to the fact that there were not night nurses enough; that suggestion I believe was acted on promptly, I think there were more put on. That may have been done while I was one of the trustees.

Ques. What else. Ans. It is pretty difficult to tell; the matters were very small in themselves, but we continually made suggestions in relation to the management in the wards.

Ques. What improvements did you effect or cause to be effected. Ans. Perhaps they would have been made if we had not recommended them. I think the class of attendants was improved considerably during that two years.

Ques. I suppose you still think there is room for improvement in the class of attendants. Ans. I felt the last year I was connected with the institution that it would be difficult to get a better class of attendants; there was enough of them.

Ques. Anything else. Ans. The matter of ventilation.
